Our attention has been called to the mistake, and on reference to the draft of the Bill we find the second clause reads: 'In the construction of this Ordinance "Private Vehicle" includes all carriages, carts, waggons, trucks and all other vehicles which do not require to be licensed under Ordinance 11 of 1887 . except private perambulators, trucks and care, in use on tramways, or such other vehicles Governor in Council to time exempt,' What Acting Attorney said was: of you the nuisance and danger caused by trucks and trollies coming down side streets without any guidance or control, into the principal streets. What is simed at is to regulate these trucks and trollies; and, of course, you are bound to take everybody into your net and the owners of all private vehicles ham and the man who keeps his dogcart; but that is, of course, only common fairness. He then explained that blems. Amongst the themes herein discussed to a very satisfactory conclusion, and I have on the suggestion of some member it had been decided to insert an exception to cover bioycles, perambulators and private rickshas and chairs. There was, we understand, a general complaint of indistinctness at yesterday's meeting of the Council; and His Excellency would be conferring a benefit upon the representatives of the Press and the public if he admonished the members of Council to speak up.

Whether or not the Mr Inicol training of these young women will ultimately epable the Government to reduce the stoff of European sisters, we are unable at present to say. It is possible, however, that Mr R. King if they prove to be capable nurses, the duties of the eleters may gradually become of a lighter and more supervisory nature, and in that event their number might eventually be reduced to what is necessary for the purpose of supervision, the 'nurses' so-called doing much of the work at present performed Miss Coe by the sisters. OPINIONS OF THE PRESS. 'All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review, -Northern Christian Advocate (U.S. 'The China Review * * * * has an excellent table of contents. - Celestial Empire. 'The Publication always contains subjects of interest to sojourners in the Far East and the present issue will hold favourable if not advantageous comparison, with preceding plication.

numbers.'-Celestial Empire. 'This number contains several articles of interest and value. '-North-China Herald. The China Review for September-October fully maintains the high standard of excellence which characterises that publication, and altogether-forms a very interesting and readable number. Meteorologists will find an interesting and valuable contribution by Dr. Fritsche, on "the Amount of Precipitation (Rain and Snow) of Peking," showing the results of observations made at the Imperial Russian Observatory at Peking, from 1841 to 1880. "Notes on the Dutch Occupation of Formosa," by Mr. Geo. Phillips, contains some interesting information, although much of it is second-hand. The Notices of New Books include a most generous and appreciative review of 4 The Divine Classic of Nan-Hua," and the Notes and Queries are as usual very interesting." - North-China

Daily News. "A substantial and reliable Review which all students of China and the Chineze would do well to patronise. - Chryswithemum. The November-December number of the China Review contains less variety than usual, but the few articles are very interesting. The opening paper by BIr Herbert A. Giles on "The New Testament in Chinose" treats of a question that must necessarily be of great importance in the eyes of all missionaries. . . Mr E. H. Parker's "Short Journeys in Szechuen" are continued, and a goodly instalment of these travels in the interior of China is given. Mr F. H. Balfour contributes a paper of some length entitled "The Emperor Cheng, founder of the Chinese Empire," which will be read with genuine interest by students of Chinese history. A few short notices of New Books and a number of Notes and Queries, one of which "On Chinese Oaths in Western Porneo and Java" might appropriately have been placed under a separate heading, complete the number. —H. K. Daily Press.

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :-The present publication, judging by the number new before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, some what similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering come such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked or from the members Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high dogree of Chinese and who are severally represented in the first and Cargo for the above Ports. number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors Some translations from Chinese riovels and plays are marked by both accuracy and fresh-ness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese post-statesman of the eleventh centary, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a uneful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that Notes, and 'Queries, are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may croke a similar degree of literary seal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its prodecessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to leader required.
